INT. COYERS HIGH - MRS. DAVID'S CLASSROOM:

---

An attractive young teacher, MRS. DAVID, African American, packs items from her desk in a box. Finished, she picks up her purse and the box and prepares to leave the classroom.

Bam appears and grabs the box just before its contents hit the floor.

BAM

I got it, I got it.

MRS. DAVID

Thanks, Bam.

He sits the box on a nearby table.

BAM

Can I walk you to your car?

MRS. DAVID

I don't think that would be a good idea.

BAM

I'm sorry you got fired and everything.

MRS. DAVID

I didn't get fired.

BAM

But I thought...

Bam looks points towards the box.

MRS. DAVID

I am making a choice to leave, Bam. I know everyone is talking about the magazine, and look, it's something I did while I was struggling in college and it wasn't the best choice. But it happened and instead of waiting for the parents here to get in an uproar over it, I'm going to leave and take a teaching job in Los Angeles.

Bam takes a big breath.

BAM

I just don't see why you had to do it. I mean, if you were in college, then you were smart enough to know that it could come back on you. I really liked your class.

You seemed so... you know... special.

MRS. DAVID

I've already explained myself to you, Bam. More than I had to. I'm sorry if I've ruined your image of me, but I'm only human.

BAM

Yeah, every guy in the locker room knows how human you are.

Bam eyes Mrs. David's body.

MRS. DAVID

I am still an adult Bam and I won't be disrespected.

BAM

Seems like you already did that to yourself.

Bam quickly turns and exits the room.

INT. CONYERS HIGH SCHOOL - HALLWAY

Bam pulls out his cell phone and immediately calls Dymond.

BAM

(into phone)

Yo, Dymond... What you doing tonight?

DYMOND (V.O.)

Who me?

BAM

(into phone)

Yeah, you.

DYMOND (V.O.)

Nothing, just homework. Why?

BAM

(into phone)

Is your mama home?
